Addressing the age-related challenges of HIV testing, prevention and care.

To combat the stigma older Americans living with HIV encounter and to address the aging-related issues of HIV testing, prevention, and care, we recognize National HIV/AIDS and Aging Awareness Day (NHAAD) on September 18, 2022.

NHAAD raises awareness of HIV-related issues among older Americans, including new infections among older adults and adults over 50 living with HIV.

Persons with HIV are living longer, healthier lives as treatment advances, yet elderly people in America are more likely to be diagnosed with late-stage HIV.

The CDC reports that adults aged 55 and over had the highest percentage of Stage 3 (AIDS) diagnosis. HIV can be effectively combated with early diagnosis and treatment.

Consult your doctor about preventative options like as pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP), antiretroviral therapy (ART), and post-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) (PEP).

Becoming undetectable allows you to live a long and healthy life and won't transmit HIV to your sexual partners. Get in care. Stay in care. Live well with HIV. Let's Stop HIV Together!
